Dr. Sun Yat Sen Is Ready To Begin Operations

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese revolutionist, of whom it was stated in one of the papers of the city not long ago that it was his intention to go to China to work up revolutionary feeling among the more enlightened of his brethren, is not going to China at all since such action might result in a sudden termination of his plans, the Government officials being rather active with the beheading knife whenever there is an attempt to overthrow the reigning dynasty.

Dr. Sun is going very soon to Japan or, if he finds this too far away as a base of operations, he will go to the Island of Formosa, which is very much closer to the district upon which he intends to first exert his influence.

Dr. Sun has his plans well mapped out but, of course, is giving none of these to the public. Since his arrival in the city some months ago, the revolutionist has been doing some hard work, although he has kept pretty well under cover the whole time. He has been to all the islands and has succeeded in getting a great many of the better class and more intelligent of the Chinese interested in his self-imposed mission.

It comes from the very best of authority that a thousand members have been secured for the Kak Meng Kwan, or revolutionary society, and that all these men will go to China to fight on the side of overthrowing the present dynasty and instituting a republican form of government, should occasion demand. There is no stipulated amount that each member is called upon to subscribe. Indeed, if a member feels he cannot afford it, he need subscribe nothing. Each man puts in what he thinks he can.

Were the plans of the Chinese revolutionist to be disclosed, there would doubtless be something very interesting to tell. Dr. Sun believes that the only way to accomplish the end he is striving for is through the shedding of blood and he means to secure a big army in China.

Various of the larger cities of China have already been worked thoroughly through the agents of the revolutionary society, a branch of which was started here by Dr. Sun, and from recent reports the movements seem to be gaining ground daily.

It comes on the very best of authority that officials high in the Government of Japan are lending their moral support to the work of the revolutionary agents and that Dr. Sun will be given every protection while in Japan, using that country as a base from which to work.

A member of the revolutionary society was asked this forenoon by a Bulletin reporter what the Chinese ex-

PRESS AND PULPIT AND POLICE ON PUBLIC MORALS

Public morals are now to be brought into the glare of the official searchlight of the Territorial Grand Jury.

This morning the inquisition, leaving for awhile its further examination of House vouchers and investigation of assorted alleged crimes, took up the matter of whether or not Honolulu holds within her gates houses, resorts or institutions that can be characterized as being disorderly, of ill-fame or ill-repute. If such establishments do exist then the Grand Jury proposes to thoroughly probe all circumstances pertaining thereto and, possibly, to recommend some method of killing, curing, restraining, restricting, supervising or governing them.

With a view to obtaining public opinion on the subject and recommendations as to the proper measures to be taken, the Grand Jury has summoned to its secret chamber divers preachers, pastors, priests, rectors, curates, parsons, members of mission boards, reformers, editor and other pillars of the church and state, that they may speak their minds. Police officials are also called.

Noticed in line at the door of the jury room this morning were High Sheriff Brown, Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth, Theodore Richards of the Hawaiian Board of Missions, and the Rev. W. D. Westervelt.

Deputy Attorney General W. S. Fleming waits on the Grand Jury. Realizing that to have editors before the jury in the forenoon might interfere with supplying the public with war news, Fleming booked the editorial conversations for this afternoon.

Developments are expected. The worst is still to come.

AT THE YOUNG HOTEL

The Alexander Young Hotel management has made great preparations for the entertainment on the roof garden this evening in honor of Col. Bubb and the officers and ladies of the transport Sherman. The leader of the 12th Infantry band has arranged a special program and a concert by these skilled musicians will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Next will come an informal dance to which Honolulu society people are most cordially invited. There is every promise of a delightful evening.

K. OF P.'S WANT VOICE

The Knights of Pythias lodges of the islands are just now contemplating an application for admission under the Grand Lodge of California which, if accomplished, will allow them a voice in the councils of the order. At present, the K. of P. lodges in Hawaii are under the Supreme officials and have no voice whatever. There are three lodges in Honolulu and four on the other islands and it is stated that there is a unanimity of feeling in favor of getting in under the Grand Lodge of California.

SIERRA REACHES PORT At 2:45 p.m. WITH MANY TOURISTS

Over a hundred passengers for Honolulu, of which a very large proportion are tourists, arrived in the Oceanic steamship Sierra this afternoon. A party of fifteen of the tourists came from Los Angeles, the tourist center of California, to view the rival attractions of Hawaii.

Among the kamakunas on board the Sierra is Wm. Langton, the editor and proprietor of the "Paradise of the Pacific," who returns from a visit to San Francisco and Southern California. Langton found it very cold on the Coast and is glad to get back to Hawaii.

Alex. Young also returns from the mainland. The Sierra left San Francisco March 4 at 12:45 a. m., she having been delayed eleven hours by the late arrival of the British mails. She enjoyed a pleasant and uneventful voyage, making the trip in five days and thirteen hours. The Sierra was docked at the Oceanic wharf at about 2:45 p. m.

Following is a complete list of the passengers who arrived in the Sierra: Honolulu: Sister Albina and maid, Dr. F. H. Appleton, Mrs. Appleton, Mrs. E. L. Barr, Sister Benedicta, C. E. These possibilities are being brought home to the Circuit Court at the present time and are revealing the fact that the present jury law is faulty, that a list of 250 names is insufficient.

Out of the originally called 250 a large number could not be found; some proved not to be American citizens and many have been excused from service for various reasons, exemption under the law, sickness, business pressure and so forth; over forty are occupied in the civil courts; there may soon be none to call on the Jones case unless the civil courts are drawn on and, at the rate jurors have been challenged for cause in the Jones case to date, even then Judge Robinson may fail to have a jury to try the alleged wife murderer, and the matter would have to go over until next year.

Meanwhile defendant is entitled to a speedy trial and, if his case went over, might even sue out a writ of habeas corpus and, in the event of this being refused in Circuit Court, he might take the matter to the Federal jurisdiction for habeas corpus.

Answering a question on the subject this morning, Judge Robinson said he thought the jury list should include at least 400 names, or that the law should be elastic enough as to the jury list to meet such an emergency as was possible, though not probable, in the Jones case.

Owing to the present jury system as provided for by Act 38, which is now receiving considerable unfavorable criticism on the part of legal minds, there is a possibility, not altogether remote, of the Jones murder trial going over until next year.

Incidentally the present jury system, in the respect noted, would mean great expense to the Territory in the event of possibilities becoming facts.

Out of the fifty men whose names were on yesterday's venire, but thirty-four could be found; twelve of these thirty-four were excused by the court for good reasons; fourteen of the remainder, upon examination, were challenged for cause. These figures speak eloquently of the difficulty being experienced in the attempt to get a jury to try Jones.
